BECK RETURNS FOR MORE QUESTIONING

Ike May Make Two TV Pleas For His Budget

Can't Make Big Cuts, He Says, Until Foreign Situation Eases

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower told a news conference today that he may make two television appearances soon in support of his budget, which is encountering trouble in Congress.

The President told reporters he had worked for a long time on an address to the people, but found there were so many subjects to be covered that he doubted one speech would accomplish his purpose.

He used his news conference to make another vigorous stand in behalf of his budget, asserting that truly big cuts could not be made until this country was certain that the foreign situation had eased very greatly.

Other conference highlights:

—He anticipates the eventual resignation of Treasury Secretary George M Humphrey but said that Humphrey had not yet submitted a formal resignation.

—He said there were no differences between Humphrey and him on financial policy. Quite firmly Eisenhower said that the monetary policy of this country is strictly his own.

—He disclosed that a letter in which Humphrey spoke of the possibility of a major depression under certain financial conditions in the government was prepared jointly by the secretary and the President.

—He thoroughly agreed with Humphrey that there was no longer any reason for the government to permit corporations the right of rapid tax write-offs.

—Eisenhower thought the Russian compromise aerial inspection plan submitted at the current London disarmament talks would require earnest study, but did demonstrate that more honest, hard work was being done by the current conference than in previous meetings. If a fool-proof international inspection system were agreed on, the U.S. probably would stop production of nuclear weapons.

—He said the Soviet Union has not suggested another summit meeting to this country. The President said such meetings always have to be carefully considered in advance to enable them to promote peace

—He emphasized that the United States will continue to develop plans coordinated with its allies to use nuclear weapons. If necessary Moscow's string of threats against allied nations cooperating with the United States do not enter into American development of plans to preserve free world security and deter war.

—He said he was feeling fine after his recent 13-day vacation at Augusta, Ga. He said he found out that sun was the cure for the winter cold which hung on for weeks

Explains Budget Plans

In discussing his plans to carry his fight for his budget and particularly his foreign aid program to the people, the Chief Executive said he had been working on a talk for some time. He discovered that he had so much to say that he could not get it all into one speech, hence the necessity of two talks which he added probably would not come close together.

Eisenhower said he was concerned that the American people should know exactly what a fed-

Summerfield to Ask Increase in Postal Budget

WASHINGTON (UP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield informed President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders today that he will have to ask for an increase in the 1958 Post Office Department budget because of the mountain mail volume the department will have to handle.

Summerfield told Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders at a White House meeting that he has asked the Senate postal subcommittee for an opportunity to submit new figures on the needs of his department

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland instructed Summerfield to make his presentation quickly because the subcommittee is about ready to act on the original budget request.

Eisenhower and the congressional leaders agreed that it would be better for Summerfield to make his case beforre the subcommittee now rather than wait and ask the Senate for a supplemental appropriation later.

The President originally asked for $3 250,000,000 to run the Post Office Department for the 1958 fiscal year starting July 1, compared with $2 984,340,000 that Congress appropriated for the current year.

Summerfield needed an extra 41 million dollars, however, to tide him over during the current year, and he had to halt all Saturday postal services one week end before he got the extra money from Congress.

Summerfield discussed his budget problems at the President's regular weekly meeting with GOP congressional leaders.

The chief said the case was without suspects.

GOP Claims Cuts In Leader's Budget

HARRISBURG (UP) — House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson indicated today that Republicans have succeeded in trimming Gov. George M. Leader's biennial General Fund budget by 100 million dollars

Johnson said reports he received from the House Appropriations Committee show the GOP in all probability will hit its goal of a $1,500,000,000 fiscal blueprint for the next two years.

The practice of giving department's a "blank check" on spending of appropriations will be discontinued, Johnson said. Instead, all appropriations will be detailed and each department and agency will know just how much money is available for each service.

Johnson said the GOP version of the budget will be submitted to a Republican caucus next week and indicated the General Appropriation Bill may reach the House floor May 14. He would not comment on whether the impending cuts would affect present services.

The detailing of how the money appropriated by the Legislature can be spent is another move in GOP plans to make the administration account strictly for all expenditures. It was given impetus by Senate action on a bill which would ban deficit spending by any administration department and agency.

The Senate bill, reported to the floor late Tuesday also would require a department to use the money appropriated to it only for the purpose specified by the Legislature. However, before the Senate State Government Committee approved the bill it removed a provision which would have made department heads liable to a $10,000 fine or five years imprison-

CHARGED WITH USING FUNDS — Teamsters head Dave Beck (right) and union vice president James Hoffa are smiling here as they head for a hearing by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices committee in Washington. Beck, however, wasn't smiling when he left the hearing, where he was charged with using $300,000 in union funds "for personal purposes." Beck accused the AFL-CIO of conducting a "medieval inquisition" of the Teamsters.

Last Bridge Toll at 9:30 A. M. on May 15

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader announced today that the last collections on 10 state-owned toll bridges in the Commonwealth will be made at 9:30 edt May 15.

The governor and Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler will officiate at brief ceremonies at the Market Street Bridge here and similar ceremonies will be held at the Sunbury, Elwood-Koppel and Point Marion spans

The 10 intrastate bridges were purchased by the state from private companies in 1949 and 1950 at a total cost of $8,578,388, financed by a bond issue authorized by the 1949 Legislature. The enabling legislation directed that none of the bridges could be freed of charges until sufficient money was collected to redeem all the bonds.

The other toll bridges are Walnut Street here; Clarks Ferry at Duncannon, Charleroi-Monessen; Minsi Trail and New Street, both in Bethlehem, and the Eighth Street in Allentown.

It was originally anticipated that the bridges could not be freed until October, 1961. The governor said however "prudent man-

Wants State to Halt Segregation At Public Parks

HARRISBURG (UP) — Three Democratic state senators Tuesday asked the Legislature to extend Pennsylvania's anti-discrimination laws to public accommodations and resort and amusement establishments.

A bill sponsored by Sens Harry E. Seyler (York), Charles R Weiner (Philadelphia) and Theodore H. Schmidt (Allegheny) would empower the state Fair Employment Practices Commission to police hotels, taverns, theaters, stores, hospitals, swimming pools, libraries, public conveyances, and all other such establishments to prevent discrimination against persons for reasons of race, color, religion, creed, ancestry or national origin

The measure would not apply to "religious or denominational institutions or organizations, or any organization operated for charitable or educational purposes," nor any institution, club, or place of accommodation "which is in its nature distinctly private."

Penalties for violation of the act would be $100 to $500 fine and/or up to 30 days imprisonment.

Probers Want To Know About Business Deals

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamster Union President Dave Beck was hauled back before the Senate Rackets Committee today to tell of his business deals with his own union— and the absence of four witnesses who might explain them.

The committee booked a return engagement of the head of the nation's largest union to learn whether he profited by transactions between the Teamsters and firms in which he had interests directly or through "fronts."

The committee also wanted to learn the whereabouts of Beck's only son, Dave Beck Jr.; two relatives of the union boss' wife — Norman Gessert and Joseph McAvoy; and Fred Verschueren Sr., the Teamsters' western auditor who is believed to have kept some of Beck's personal books. It has been unable to find the missing quartet for weeks.

Charges Against Beck

Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination 117 times in his first appearance before the committee March 26-27 when asked about his personal finances.

The committee charged in the March hearings that Beck took more than 322,000 from Teamster treasuries and replaced 270,000 only after he ran afoul of income tax investigators. The group said about 50,000 was still missing. Beck was indicted recently on income tax evasion charges.

The committee also announced that its pending hearing on Teamster activities in the New York area has been postponed until about June 15 to avoid conflict with the trial of a star witness.

Linked With Riesel Blinding

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) identified the witness as John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, who is under indictment and faces trial soon in connection with the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel. Dioguardi has been summoned by the committee to testify about "paper locals" of Teamsters allegedly set up to swing a union election in the New York area

Today's hearing was the latest in Beck's torrent of troubles The government wants to jail him on a charge of avoiding some $56,000 in 1950 income taxes His returns for later years are still under investigation.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee charges that he and other high Teamster officials misused union funds. There were reports that his own Executive Board is considering booting Beck into retirement.

Sophomore Girl's Fast Expected To End Friday

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UP)—A high school sophomore who is doing without food "for the glory of God" said today she will ask for divine guidance in deciding whether to continue fasting after she reaches her goal of 21 days.

Evelyn Jenkins, 16, whose home is near Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., said "It will be God's will whether I continue it or not."

Evelyn joined the Voice of Faith Temple here last Sept. 2. She said her decision to stage the 21-day fasting period was made because "The Bible tells us Jesus fasted."

She dropped out of the 10th grade at Kirkman Vocational High School here 19 days ago to start her 21-day fast which ends Friday. During the first four days she drank water and small amounts of fruit juice but for the past 15 days has had nothing but water.

Evelyn lost 10 pounds during the first two weeks but said she doesn't feel weak or hungry.

She spent about six hours each day in a secluded wooded spot near the home of an aunt with whom she lives, reading the Bible and praying for "guidance."

Youth in Fall; Life Is Spared

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Twelve-year-old Tommy Gorman fell about 25 feet Tuesday, about the same distance as his father did four years ago, but the youngster was luckier.

Tommy was hurled to the side of a hill when a giant swing gave way near the East Street Bridge.

Police carefully climbed over the face of the hill for about a half mile to rescue Tommy. They took him to Allegheny General Hospital where it was reported he may have suffered a ruptured spleen

City Planning Road, Fire System Survey

The City is planning a road which will connect the Shawnee Ave. area with Park Manor and City Park, Councilman David Victoria announced at a regular meeting of City Council this morning.

Victoria said negotiations are almost completed for the purchase of eight lots from Mollat St to Elizabeth St Once the purchase is made, he said building of the road will begin.

He said one of the main reasons for the road is to eliminate the necessity of school buses traveling an "out-of-a-way" route to transport students from Park Manor to Benjamin Franklin School. The new road, he stated, will be an almost direct route to the school.

One of the eight lots is owned by the Shutterly Coal estate and the other seven by Joseph Sedlak, local realtor. No price has been disclosed

In commenting on the proposed new road Mayor Hugo J Parente said the "whole First Ward will benefit from it" He also stated there are many "good lots in this area that can be developed, meaning more homes will be built because of the accessible road."

The Pennsylvania Economy League informed Council it will be "glad to" make a survey of the City's fire system and equipment as soon as its schedule permits.

A resolution was passed requesting Mellon Bank to authorize the signature of Joseph Bafile, deputy director of accounts and finance, on city checks in the absence of Director David H. Canova, who is suffering from an eye ailment.

Egyptian Radio Jammed In Anti-Hussein Campaign

Jordan Trying To Halt Deadly Propaganda War

By UNITED PRESS

Jordan jammed Egyptian broadcasts today in an effort to stifle Cairo Radio's deadly propaganda campaign aginst King Hussein and his new anti-Communist regime, Cairo dispatches reported.

But the war on the Jordanian government by the Egyptian press and radio mounted in intensity and Hussein was attacked personally for the first time since he ousted leftist, pro-Egyptian Premier Suleiman Nabulsi.

Dispatches from Amman said Nabulsi had been confined to Amman for the duration of the political emergency and was being kept under "close surveillance" by military authorities.

The ruling prevented Nabulsi from going to the West Bank areas of Jordan where his strength is greatest and where he was able to call on Palestinian refugees to demonstrate against the king.

The Middle East was outwardly calm, but there were many rumblings to show the great tension still existing in the area.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported from Gaza that Israeli troops opened fire Sunday on 40 Arabs working on a farm and that United Nations Emergency Force troops intervened to halt the firing.

The Jordan government charged in the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission that Israeli planes had flown "many" reconnaissance flights over the West Bank and demanded the U.N. put a stop to it.

In Damascus official sources said Syria had protested to Turkey against "military concentrations" on the Syrian border and warned that such troop movements endangered friendly relations.

A political storm was brewing in Israel over the Eisenhower Doctrine but informed sources said they did not expect a major government crisis. Two left-wing parties in the coalition government, the Mapam and the Ahdud Avoda, oppose the doctrine on the ground that it will strengthen the Arabs. Observers believed they would abstain in parliamentary voting instead of pulling out of the cabinet.

James P. Richards, special envoy who has been explaining the Eisenhower Doctrine to Middle East nations, returns to Washington today. A survey showed 12 Mideast nations generally favor the doctrine and five either are withholding a decision on the plan or are against it.

In other Mideast developments:

London — The Suez Canal Users Association met today and was expected to recommend that its 14 member nations accept Egypt's plan for operating the waterway. France, strongest opponent of the plan, was believed to have decided a boycott by France alone would be ineffective.

Paris — French and Israeli officials resumed discussions on details of a new French economic aid program for Israel, including a French pledge to help build a pipeline from the Gulf of Aqaba to the Mediterranean.

Youth Hit by Dad With Baseball Bat

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Posdell Smith, 16, of 1132 Cherry St., Braddock, Pa., underwent emergency surgery today for a brain injury suffered when he was struck with a baseball bat.

A spokesman at Montefiore Hospital said his condition was critical.

Braddock police said the boy was struck Tuesday night by his father, William, 54, who was held pending outcome of the injury.

Posdell was transferred here early today from Braddock General Hospital for surgery.

House Group Drafts State Job Security

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Republican - controlled House has drafted legislation spelling out job security for the state's professional employes while rejecting Gov. George M. Leader's request for civil service coverage.

Four House GOP members introduced legislation Tuesday to grant the estimated 10,000 professional and technical workers "tenure type" security. The bill specified technical workers "employed two consecutive years or more" from the date of enactment of the legislation could not be discharged without just cause.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said the bill was "as far as the Republicans would go" toward the governor's request that professional workers be given civil service coverage by legislative action.

Leader extended civil service to the workers by administrative order but pointed out succeeding governors could revoke his action.

The governor included civil service by legislative action as part of his so-called "good government" program.

Republicans termed civil service "cumbersome" and charged it was an administration plan to "freeze" its appointees into office. Other observers remarked the GOP plan would not go into effect until Leader was out of office, giving the next governor a free hand in filling state jobs.

The GOP bill was accompanied by a resolution to direct the Legislature's research arm to investigate the "advantages and disadvantages" of civil service under the federal government. The resolution, with the Senate concurring, would have the Joint State Government Commission report its findings to the 1959 Legislature.

The two measures were sponsored by House GOP Whip Allan M. Gibson (Warren), Marvin V. Keller (Bucks) and Thomas H. W. Jones (Montgomery), and Stanley G. Stroup (Bedford).

Liquor Industry Is Warned by Bureau

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — The Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue issued a warning to the liquor industry Tuesday that any advertising which claimed whisky had curative and therapeutic effects would be considered illegal.

The warning came in an address by John Huntington, of the division's basic and permit trade practice branch, to the 23rd annual national conference of State Liquor Administrators.

Huntington told the group that use of the curative theme in advertising whisky was a violation of regulations set up in 1935, and if the industry insists on the "medicinal" approach, it should change the law first.

"It has remained our view that of all the different types of advertising claims which create misleading impressions, those which assert health benefits, or which imply no harmful results will follow the consumption of whisky are by far the most objectionable," Huntington said.

"I can think of no advertising trend which could be calculated to antagonize temperance groups, or which would provide them with more ammunition to attack the liquor industry than that involving the use of curative and therapeutic themes in respect to the consumption of alcoholic beverages," he said.

He added that his department disapproved of a series of "well prepared and dignified advertisements" which were presented for examination and comment. He said the Bureau of Internal Revenue regarded them as a violation of regulations, and added it was debatable whether it would be in either the industry's or the public's interest to embark on such an advertising theme.

"Basically, the question is whether public opinion would countenance this type of advertising theme. But if the industry is determined to make use of it, we must agree that it should be approached by amendment of the law or regulations, rather than by ignoring existing requirements," Huntington said.

Budget

eral budget means and what is involved in cutting it.

He noted, by way of illustration, that in Boston within the last few days there was a mock Boston tea party protesting high taxes, yet the mayor of Boston had visited his office only a few weeks ago and protested against the reduction in funds for urban redevelopment.

Philosophically, the President shrugged his shoulders and observed that everybody was for cutting the budget for everybody else.

Cites Program Needs

He said it was impossible to reduce the budget markedly without cutting the basic, great programs of the government — programs designed to protect the welfare of this country and the world.

He said defense spending really is the key to any substantial budget reduction, and defense spending can not be cut materially until there is a definite reduction in world tensions.

He said expenditures for foreign aid and the State Department are part of the American program of waging peace, and thus part of a necessary effort to reduce world tension and thereby lead to substantially lower spending by this government.

He was asked specifically about recurrent reports that Humphrey and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson planned to leave the cabinet in the relatively near future.

He replied that he had no cabinet resignations before him at the present, but that it was true that Humphrey for the past two years had remained in the government only at his insistence.

ment if they exceeded their appropriations.

Both legislative chambers were busy cleaning up loose ends and preparing for a final adjournment drive. The House gave final approval by a vote of 153-29 to legislation to tighten collection and enforcement features of the state sales tax and specifically eliminate coal sales from the levy.

Meanwhile, the Senate pushed into position for final action today legislation which would exempt non-residents from paying the Philadelphia wage tax. Proponents of the measure fought down an opposition attempt to amend the measure to make it effective against any municipality collecting a wage tax from persons employed in the community but residing elsewhere.

Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) said such a move would be disastrous for many communities which impose the tax on non-residents.

12 Mideast Countries Favor Ike Doctrine

WASHINGTON (UP) — Twelve Middle Eastern countries generally favor American efforts to bolster the Middle East against Communism under the Eisenhower Doctrine, a survey disclosed today.

Five nations in the troubled region either are withholding a decision on the American aid program or are against it.

The doctrine, in the form of a resolution passed by Congress March 9 and signed by President Eisenhower, states U.S. readiness to use armed force to help any Mideast nation attacked by a Communist - dominated country and requesting American help. It also authorizes U.S. economic and arms aid to bolster Mideast nations against Red encroachment.

The United Press survey is based on results of Ambassador James P. Richards' 59-day tour of the Middle East to explain the Eisenhower Doctrine and line up support for it.

Envoy Returns Today

Richards was scheduled to return here this afternoon to report to Eisenhower and congressional committees on his mission.

Richards, a Democrat and former chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was authorized to make commitments on economic and military aid projects of up to 200 million dollars in the Middle East under terms of the doctrine.

Nations visited by Richards that are endorsing new American efforts to stem Communism were Lebanon, Libya, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Ethiopia, Greece, Tunisia, Israel, and Morocco. Israel's formal approval is expected shortly.

Of these nations only Greece, Saudi Arabia and Israel will not receive American aid dollars from the Eisenhower Doctrine fund. The three nations will continue to receive U.S. aid, however, from regular foreign aid funds.

Afghanistan gave Richards a mixed reception. It declared its "neutrality" in the East - West struggle, thus withholding any direct pledges to resist Communism. But it agreed to accept further American "economic and cultural aid" without "any political conditions. . ."

Yemen and Sudan withheld approval. The Sudanese government said it "welcomed the clarification" of the doctrine and agreed to give it "further study."

Egypt and Syria did not invite Richards and his mission, while Jordan is a special case. Administration officials believe existence of the doctrine stiffened King Hussein's will to resist leftist attacks on his regime. Hussein himself suggested it would not be a good idea for Richards to visit his country. But the young monarch accepted 10 million dollars in American aid from regular foreign aid funds.

agement of the funds and efficient operation" permits lifting tolls four years ahead of schedule.

The governor last March vetoed Republican - sponsored legislation which would have removed tolls May 30, chiefly on the ground the Highways Department planned to free them earlier.

The costs of the spans were: Clarks Ferry, $538,204; Market Street, Harrisburg, $3,850,000; Walnut Street, Harrisburg, $1,194,864; Minsi Trail, Bethlehem, $385,000; New Street, Bethlehem, $145,000; Eighth Street, Allentown, $452,755; Ellwood-Koppel, Ellwood City, $354,000; Sunbury, $650,000; Charleroi-Monessen, $550,000; and Point Marion, Marion, $325,000.

In addition to the purchase price, the Highways Department assumed obligations for repairs, legal fees and appraisal costs of approximately $133,000.

The New Kensington-Tarentum toll bridge between Westmoreland and Allegheny counties will not be affected by the May 15 action. The span was not included in the 1949-50 purchases but was built later by the state.

Truckers to Open New Contract Talks

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Western Pennsylvania Motor Carriers Association will open talks Thursday with Local 249, Teamsters Union, for a new contract covering 3,000 truck drivers.

The present contract, signed in 1955 after a 45-day strike, expires June 1.

It was not disclosed whether the union would negotiate separately with the Associated Motor Carriers, formed when a number of operators withdrew from the Western Pennsylvania group following the 1955 strike.

It all started when John E. Muzina, of Fayette City was awarded a judgment by the Allegheny County Courts last Friday of 114,813 for damages received in an automobile accident on Rt. 51 March 8, 1954.

The judgment was against Joseph J. Mazur, of Duquesne. Muzina suffered a fractured hip in the accident.

Mrs. Muzina's complaint is that all her friends think they received a financial windfall, but actually they received nothing since Mazur had nothing.

"All we got was a judgment, but no money," Mrs. Muzina added sadly.

give a decision at the next meeting. In the meantime, road oil will be applied to the streets.

In order to make Myers Ave. a "thru-way street", Council has purchased a portion of ground belonging to Andrew Prokopovitch, of 15 Myers Ave., for $2,700. The purchase price was based on the evaluation of the property by disinterested real estate agents acting on requests from the City and property owner.

Westmoreland Paving Co. was awarded a contract to provide road oil for the City this year. Its low bid amounted to 14.7 cents per gallon.

Councilman John Molnar informed Council that the state Department of Justice has inspected the local city jail and given it an overall rating of "good".

"This should make our customers very happy," the Mayor commented.

Dr. Frank Tucci, a Belle Vernon chiropractor who resides in Monessen, addressed Council and again presented his views on anti-fluoridation of water. Dr. Tucci also addressed Council at a previous meeting.

In his address, he said "fluoridation has not been proven to be effective and safe. It is compulsory mass medication without parallel, and it represents an unprecedented enlargement of the responsibility and authority of the Public Health Service."

Council took no action.

Five Day Forecast

Precipitation may occur as showers and scattered thunderstorms Thursday and Friday and possibly over the weekend but may be rather spotty with amounts around one-quarter inch.

U. S., Poland Agreement

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and Poland plan to sign a 100-million dollar aid agreement soon after Congress completes action on legislation authorizing use of more surplus American farm products for foreign aid.

Officials said today they hope the agreement can be completed in 10-14 days.

Canada is unhappy about the prospective agreement because it provides for heavy deliveries of American wheat to Poland at bargain prices. Canada, bulging with a big wheat surplus, feels the U.S.-Polish agreement will cut into a wheat market the Canadians have helped supply in the past.

The planned 100-million dollar agreement is only a third of the 300-million dollars originally asked by Poland in long negotiations that began here Feb. 26. However, Poland is now reported satisfied.

Louisiana Towns Fighting Floods

Storms Sweep North-central Area; Fires Hit New England

By UNITED PRESS

Severe storms swept across north-central states early today and scattered showers and thunderstorms struck from Texas to the Pacific Northwest.

Meanwhile, the Louisiana towns of Campti and Clarence appeared to be safe behind hastily-constructed levees as the rampaging Red River crest neared.

A crew of 150 National Guardsmen labored almost two days to bolster the levees, but the only danger point was south of Campti. If the river breaks through the levees, it would engulf Campti and rush over low-lying land to Clarence.

Already an estimated 100,000 acres of Louisiana lowland has been inundated by waters of the Red River backing up through creeks and sloughs.

The floods in Texas, which began April 19, apparently are over.

Precipitation blanketed most of the western half of the nation from northwest Wisconsin to western Texas and westward to the Pacific Coast. East of the precipitation, however, fair and mild weather prevailed.

Temperatures Up

Temperatures continued to rise from the Dakotas to Texas and eastward to the Atlantic Coast, with the most noticeable warmings in New England.

Meanwhile, early morning winds and unseasonably high temperatures threatened to revive subdued flames in smoldering woodlands of New England.

Smoke-grimed firefighters halted a blaze near Manchester, Mass., which burned more than 1,000 acres of land. Halfway across Massachusetts, in the South Athol, Petersham and New Salem areas, another forest fire raged out of control and destroyed 1,000 acres of woodland.

Flames turned Hawk Mountain near Proctorsville, Vt., into an inferno, and the treetop fire thwarted attempts of fire-fighters to halt it.

A long dry spell created the woodland fire danger in the northeast, where many smaller fires were reported Tuesday. Vermont woodlands were closed to the public Tuesday and only Maine forests remain open to the public in the New England area.

Forest fires also raged through central and northeastern Wisconsin, consuming hundreds of acres of timberland. Chief state forest ranger Neil Le May called the situation "very critical . . . almost as bad as it can be." He blamed low humidity and fairly strong winds for fanning the fires.

Low-flying Jet Over Manhattan Just 'Testing'

NEW YORK (UP)—A low-flying jet plane frightened some Manhattan residents Tuesday night with its whistling roar. It was identified today as a Navy fighter with a civilian pilot testing secret equipment.

The F7U3 twin-jet Cutlass made six passes over the center of Manhattan at an altitude above 3,000 feet between 10:45 and 11:50 p.m., according to a spokesman for the Servo Corp. of America whose equipment it was testing.

The skies over Manhattan sky scrapers are normally off limits for military jets. Thousands of New Yorkers took fright at the unaccustomed din. Calls to police reported as many as eight jets were buzzing the city.

The company spokesman said the plane was flown by pilot Jake Boelhouwer of Meteor Air Transport Corp.

This meeting is in preparation for the statewide convention in Harrisburg next month.

Tonight's affair is in lieu of the regular monthly meeting and everyone is invited to attend, Kritsky said.

Air Force to Station Missile Unit on Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — The United States announced today the U.S. Air Force will station a Matador guided missile unit on Formosa capable of firing atomic warheads at the Chinese Communist-held mainland.

The 600-mile-plus trajectory of the Matador would bring into range such major cities as Nanking, Shanghai and Canton and all of the coastal points where the Red Chinese might assemble an invasion fleet.

A joint statement by the United States and Nationalist China said "This action is taken wholly for defensive purposes of deterring and if necessary repelling attack."

The statement made it clear the Matador unit of the U.S. Air Force is not here now. There was no indication when it will arrive.

The Matadors operate at a speed of more than 650 miles an hour and have a range of several hundred miles — enough to reach the Chinese mainland across the Strait of Formosa.

The statement said the United States and Nationalist China have agreed to the stationing of Matadors on Formosa because of the continued Chinese Communist military build-up on the mainland opposite Formosa.

The missiles will not be given to the Chinese Nationalists but will be handled by U.S. Air Force personnel. There was no indication if nuclear warheads were being sent here with the Matadors.

Man Admits Killing Girl in Clarksburg

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UP)—A man described by police as a known "window-peeper" confessed Tuesday the rape-slaying of an 11-year-old girl.

Police Chief G. F. Amsler said James Burkhammer, 24, unmarried and unemployed, admitted after long questioning he assaulted and strangled young Charlene Vilain as she was returning home from a grocery Sunday night.

He said he was frightened by the headlights of a car as he carried her body in an alley. He threw the body over a fence and ran, he said.

The driver of the car, Willis W. Walker, investigated and found the body. An autopsy showed the girl had been criminally assaulted and strangled.

Amsler said Burkhammer signed a confession and was then held without bond on a murder charge at a hearing before Magistrate Mirth Kuhl. He was confined in the Harrison County Jail to await action by the June grand jury.

Burkhammer has no police record, Amsler said, but was arrested Monday night as a suspect because he was known to police as a "prowler and window-peeper" in the city's Northview section where the slaying occurred.

Charlene, a slightly-built, blonde and blue-eyed fifth-grader, was killed as she was returning home from a grocery with a box of tea bags and an ice cream stick.

Her father is a projectionist and chief electrician at a downtown movie theater.

Law to Revise Liquor Option

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to permit liquor establishments an option to operate on either standard or daylight time today awaited state Senate concurrence on a minor House amendment.

The House passed the Senate originated bill Tuesday, 164-29, but revised the legislation to "take effect immediately." Little opposition was expected for Senate concurrence.

The state Liquor Control Board ruled earliest this year establishments would have to observe the time regulating their community. The legislation would allow the establishment to remain on standard time while daylight time was observed in their community.

Would Raise Pay Of PUC Members

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Legislature has received legislation to grant $5,000 a year salary raises to five members of the state Public Utility Commission.

A bill sponsored by Republican Sens. Charles R. Mallery (Blair), William Z. Scott (Carbon), C. Arthur Blass (Erie), and George B. Stevenson (Clinton) would raise the salary of the commissioners from $14,000 to $19,000, with $1,000 additional for the commission chairman.

Convicts Riot In North Dakota State Prison

BISMARCK, N. D. (UP)—Prison officials today began an investigation into a four-hour riot of 200 rebellious convicts which was broken up by a flying wedge of prison guards who charged the mob with guns blazing.

Three guards were wounded in the charge, but four other guards were released from parts of the North Dakota State Penitentiary where they had been trapped.

The convicts seized complete control of the penitentiary about mid-morning Tuesday, and only lost control in the rush of guards firing rifles and tear gas shells into the air.

Warden O. J. Nygaard said he had a "pretty good idea" that 10 convicts were reponsible for the riot, but he did not identify them.

This reporter talked with five convict leaders through a barred window of the administration building at the height of the riot. They charged that guards stole money and valuables from their cells and that one guard taunted them with stories about their wives and sweethearts outside the prison walls.

This guard, the convicts said, touched off the earlier sitdown strike in the prison twine factory which erupted into the full-fledged riot.

Nygaard said he would ignore the convicts' charges, which he labelled "cooked up" accusations.

Macing Trial Is Dropped

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The macing trial of four former Republican state officials was three years getting underway but it hardly was worth the trouble.

Criminal Court Judge Samuel A. Weiss threw the case out Tuesday, the second day of the trial. He said he had "never entertained a weaker case" in his 11 years on the bench.

The judge said there wasn't "one scintilla of evidence" against the defendants, Artemas C. Leslie state insurance commissioner from 1950 to 1955; Frederick P. Hare, Somerset, former state senator and administrative assistant to Gov. John S. Fine; George A. Nally, now of Brigantine, N.J., former controller of the state Revenue Department, and Frederick M. Campbell, Pittsburgh, former investigator for the state Insurance Department.

At the request of the defense, Weiss dismissed the conspiracy charges against them after the prosecution ended its case.

"I believe the court was right," District Attorney Edward C. Boyle said in commenting on Weiss' decision.

Former District Attorney James F. Malone, a Republican, who initiated the macing investigation, was not present when the case came to its abrupt end. Now head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, Malone had been subpenaed to testify but was not called to the stand.

Weiss termed the charges a "great injustice to four reputable men." Singling out Leslie, he said:

"Here is a man who has given a lifetime in public service with honor."

Assistant District Attorney Sidney A. Sanes, who argued the case for the prosecution, admitted it was "not a strong one."

The defendants had been charged with conspiracy to force state payrollers to contribute one per cent of their wages to a Republican campaign fund in the spring of 1954. They were the first of 15 defendants to go on trial.

Boyle said a decision would be made later in the cases of the other 11 defendants.

New Pay System for Armed Forces Urged

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) told a group of civic leaders Tuesday he plans to introduce legislation for a new pay system in the armed forces which he said would save the taxpayer five billion dollars a year.

Symington, in a speech before the Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce, said he is drafting a bill to carry out suggestions of the so-called Cordiner Committee on Military Manpower.

Symington, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, quoted Ralph Cordiner, president of General Electric Co. who headed a committee to analyze manpower problems of the Defense Department.

Cordiner said five billion dollars could be saved annually, if the recommendations of his committee were adopted. He suggested that military pay increases be based on merit rather than on seniority.

Symington said, "we owe it to ourselves and to the nation to countenance no further delays in carrying out a program for maximum utilization of military manpower at minimum cost."

The senator added that the economy moves would in no way handicap national security, and would, in fact, improve the combat capability of the armed forces.

He said "a tremendous amount of money" could be saved by the administration. But he added that the Bureau of the Budget had turned down a Defense Department draft of a bill to put the Cordiner report into operation.

Rotarians See Film of Races

A film of the stock car races staged last winter at Daytona Beach, Fla., was shown to the Monessen Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at Johnson's yesterday.

The picture was introduced by Roland Bunting, program chairman.

Visitors at the meeting included Edwin A. Dawson, of Monessen; Avra H. Pershing, Jr., Greensburg; Dick Tracey and Sam Cohen, both of Pittsburgh, and John Metz and Remus Johnson, of Charleroi.

Bill Would Govern Tax at Theatres

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly today considered legislation to prevent any community other than Philadelphia from levying a local tax on motion picture admissions costing less than 90 cents.

The bill of Rep. John J. Vaughan (R-Allegheny), specifies that Pittsburgh, Scranton and the state's 47 third class cities could not collect a tax on any "admissions to motion picture theatres costing less than 90 cents."

A similar bill in the state Senate would prohibit a local tax on theater admissions regardless of the cost.

The Lawyers and Judge Bauer

WE ARE HAVING trouble deciding what to think about those 89 Westmoreland County lawyers who have allowed their names to be attached to a syrupy endorsement of Judge Edward G. Bauer for reelection to a second term. We are not acquainted with all of them personally, but we think we know enough of them by reputation to be able to divide them into three categories:

1. Fledgling attorneys trying to get started in the profession. They learn quickly that the Westmoreland County courthouse is a political jungle in which whom you know and whose boots you lick count for more than how much law you know.

2. Dyed-in-the-wool partisans who would endorse Pontius Pilate for reelection if he was slated on the Democratic organization ticket.

3. Competent and experienced lawyers who know the conditions in the courthouse and who are familiar with Judge Bauer's miserable record both as district attorney and judge but who don't have the guts to stand openly for something better.

Of the three groups the last, sad to say, is probably the largest.

WE NEED NOT waste much time on Judge Bauer. He has been a prominent figure in Westmoreland County politics for a generation, and his official conduct has been discussed frequently and in detail in these columns. No regular reader of The Daily Independent can be in any doubt as to our opinion that he most certainly does not deserve reelection.

Judge Bauer began his political career as a Republican. He served in the State Assembly as a member of that party, and we have no knowledge of anything he did in that office that would mark him for further public service.

When the New Deal tide set in, Judge Bauer flopped to the Democratic party, undoubtedly because he could see that the political grass would be greener on that side. It was.

He served two terms (eight years) as district attorney. And it was during his tenure in this office that law enforcement, so far as syndicated racketeering is concerned, virtually collapsed in Westmoreland County. Throughout the Bauer regime the county was "wide open" for everything from prostitution to slot machines, all under the management of known criminals—known, that is, to everyone but the district attorney.

Judge Bauer ascended to the bench by way of the political "promotion" ladder operated by the courthouse machine. Under this vicious system, a do-nothing district attorney inevitably becomes a judge if he lives long enough.

As a judge, Mr. Bauer continued to coddle the rackets. Habitual offenders routinely walk out of his court with no more than paltry fines. And in the classic episode of his career, Judge Bauer publicly rebuked the State Police for their famous raid on a notorious gambling casino in Monessen. One of the admitted proprietors of that joint, the biggest racketeer to be arrested in Westmoreland County in 15 years, left Judge Bauer's court with a $25 fine.

If the lawyers of Westmoreland County care anything about its moral climate, they should care something about the ethics of their profession. And they must know that Judge Bauer habitually and flagrantly violates one of the most important of the Canons of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Association. These specifically forbid judges to engage in partisan activity except when they themselves are candidates for judicial office.

Yet Judge Bauer functions as one of the masterminds of the Democratic courthouse machine — a political judge in every sense of the term.

THIS is the judge these lawyers are trying to sell to the voters as deserving reelection. They set him up as a paragon of civic virtue, a family man, a church-goer.

He may be all of these, and he may go to church three times a week, for all we know, but that cannot erase the fact that his nonperformance of sworn duty as a public official caught Westmoreland County into national disgrace. At any time in the last 18 years, one word from Judge Bauer could have done much to release the county from the grip of an unholy alliance between syndicated crime and courthouse politics. He has yet to utter that word.

It is significant that fewer than half of the county's attorneys signed the Bauer endorsement. We hope this means that a majority of the Bar is not yet ready to compromise with political peace.

The people of Westmoreland County have a well-spent chance this year to improve the standards of justice in their court. Three of the eight places on the common pleas bench are to be filled.

The best possible start would be to retire Judge Bauer at the primary elections on May 21.

Merry-Go-Round—

Sen. Johnson Made Deal On McLeod

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A significant unreported incident took place inside the closed-door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee during consideration of Scott McLeod as Ambassador to Ireland. It illustrated how difficult it is for the Democrats to show any sign of leadership against the Eisenhower administration when their alleged leader is frequently in secret cahoots with the administration.

Mr. Pearson

Just before McLeod's name was to be voted on, Chairman Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, oldest and most revered member of the Senate, said he had had a talk with Chris Herter, acting secretary of state, who requested that a vote on McLeod be postponed for a week.

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas immediately moved one week's postponement.

This brought protest from Republicans. Sen. Alex Smith of New Jersey, the former Princeton professor, said he couldn't understand it. Sen. William Knowland of California, the Republican leader, left the room. He came back in a minute looking red in the face.

"I am authorized by the administration to say that consideration of McLeod not be postponed," he announced.

He said that Acting Secretary Herter's earlier request had been based on a phone conversation with Chairman Green in which Green had said McLeod could not be confirmed.

Usually mild chairman Green corrected Knowland vigorously. He said he had phoned Herter to say that there would be a big vote against McLeod, and while it might fall short of blocking McLeod, it might embarrass the administration. He had asked the State Department therefore to consider withdrawing McLeod's nomination.

That was why Herter had asked for one week's delay in order to take the matter up at the White House.

Secret Deal

What Acting Secretary Herter hadn't known, when Chairman Green phoned him, was that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the alleged Democratic leader, had already made a deal with Republican Leader Knowland to confirm McLeod. Regardless of what the opposition was, regardless of the time-honored custom of democratic debate, regardless of what was brought out in the hearings, Johnson had agreed that enough Democratic votes would line up for McLeod to confirm him.

Knowland, of course, knew this when he stomped out of the committee room to phone Herter. He also knew that President Eisenhower scares easy when it comes to the Senate. He, Knowland, has scared him a good many times himself. He knew that Ike never wanted to appoint McLeod in the first place, did so only to please John Foster Dulles. Finally, Knowland knew that a week's delay was likely to scare the President into withdrawing McLeod's name.

That was why he talked tough to Herter, in effect told him to get some backbone.

NOTE 1 — Significantly, Lyndon Johnson's satellite, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic whip, voted for McLeod in the secret Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Leo Graybill, Democratic national committeeman from Montana, expressed surprise at Mansfield's position. He did not know that a deal had been made by London. What makes other senators sore about the Johnson leadership is that these matters are never discussed in the democratic fashion, in a party caucus. They are decided by Johnson privately, discussed with a few senators by telephone. Johnson has held only one Democratic caucus this year, held only one in the four preceding years.

NOTE 2 — Johnson boycotted the Democratic meeting in Washington over the weekend, did not appear at the $100 a plate dinner or the Democratic breakfast. He did not appear at a single, solitary session.

Behind The News—

Bad News for Chinese Reds

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The announcement that the United States intends to station a guided missile unit in Formosa is bad news for the Chinese Communists.

It is important in both its military and its political aspects.

Mr. McCann

On the military side, the announcement gives the Peiping government another clear warning — if another one were needed—to give up any idea of trying to take Formosa, the stronghold of the Chinese Nationalist government, by force.

On the political side, it means that the United States is in Formosa for a long time to come. It also means that the Communists are just wasting time in throwing out occasional hints to Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek that they would like to make a deal with him.

It is pretty certain that the news will cause the Communists to start a big campaign of denunciation of American "aggressive intentions."

7th Fleet Ready

The United States 7th Fleet, which is now in Chinese waters, is capable, of course of attacking Red China with atomic weapons. This is true also of the American bomber planes stationed on the fortress island of Okinawa, midway between Formosa and Japan.

But the missile "unit" which is to be "stationed" in Formosa actually means the establishment of a new American military base within striking range of Red-ruled China.

The Reds always have complained that Formosa was a United States military base. But up to now, only a few jet fighter planes have been stationed on the island.

There was more bad news for the Peiping regime from Tokyo.

There, Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi indicated strongly in a statement in Parliament that Japan intends to make nuclear weapons a part of its defense.

Answering a question by a Socialist member, Kishi said that it would be permissible, under Japan's present anti-war constitution, to keep defensive nuclear weapons.

"Progress is being made now in the development of nuclear weapons," Kishi said. "In these days of progress in scientific weapons we cannot defend ourselves with bamboo spears."

There is an interesting angle in the announcement about the Formosa guided missile unit.

It seems possible that it may take some of the pressure off of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as regards his extreme reluctance to giving permission for American newsmen to visit Communist China.

Dulles is coming around, at the demand of publishers all over the country, to approving visits by at least a limited number of correspondents.

But it does not seem to be too far-fetched to suggest that the Communists may not be so eager now to welcome inquisitive Americans to their territory.

Guided missiles launched from Formosa would be capable of hitting targets far inland in China, including such great cities as Shanghai, Canton, Hankow and Nanking which the newsmen might visit.

Congress Has Long Way Before Making Tax Cut

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) —Congress may soon find itself in the Alice-In-Wonderland predicament of needing to run faster to stay in one place.

There has been much bold talk of budget-cutting, to be followed up by a Democratic-sponsored tax reduction bill to take effect next Jan. 1. But now there are hints the budget picture painted by the administration in January may have been too rosy.

Mr. Lahr

Hence there may not be much room for tax reduction even if Congress achieves some effective cuts—by no means assured yet—in President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget for the 1958 fiscal year which begins July 1.

Administration Jittery

The administration already has developed a case of jitters over whether it will be able to keep the budget in the black for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

In January the administration estimated it would show a surplus of $1,700,000,000 for the current fiscal year. Since then defense spending has been running so far above projected levels it has threatened to wipe out the surplus.

Treasury officials insist they will make enough other savings to compensate for any increases in defense spending. But the ever-upward pressure on the budget, sparked by steadily rising costs in nearly every aspect of government as well as private activity, makes the task of holding the spending line ever more difficult.

Forecast Too Optimistic?

Meanwhile, questions have been raised as to whether the adminstration forecast for next year is too optimistic. When he estimated federal spending at $71,800,000,000 for the coming fiscal year, Eisenhower put expected federal income at $73,600,000,000. This would leave a surplus of $1,800,000,000 at the end of the year on June 30, 1958.

Some time this month the staff of the House-Senate Committee on Internal Revenue will bring in its own updated estimate of government revenue for the coming fiscal year. Congress has long had great faith in this estimate and has used it as a guide in writing tax legislation.

Yugoslavia a Country Full of Paradoxes

(Editor's Note: Norman J. Montellier, veteran U. P. correspondent, is making a 1,000-mile tour of Yugoslavia on his first visit there in 10 years. This dispatch describes changes in the past decade.)

By NORMAN J. MONTELLIER

BELGRADE (UP) — Yugoslavia is a Communist country where Marilyn Monroe's photograph at Belgrade airport is bigger than the welcoming portrait of Marshal Tito.

It is a country on a reconstruction binge. It is full of paradoxes, homage to the Soviet Union as the mother of all socialism — yet doesn't balk at borrowing from the West any idea that will further its program.

Belgrade itself has undergone a startling transformation in 10 years. Hard work has wiped out all marks of the 12,000 buildings destroyed by World War II bombings. Apartment houses for workers spring up everywhere and rents are pegged at about $5 a month for an average family. But it takes a month's salary to buy a suit of clothes and half a month's pay for a pair of women's dress shoes.

Ultra-modern villas sprout on the slopes of the exclusive Dedinje hill-top residenial area around the heavily-guarded white palace where Marshal Tito lives. The white palace is a showplace to be boasted about. But visitors are barred.

Stars Heavy Drinkers

Slivovice is the national drink, a plum brandy of massive power. Because Yugoslavs drink too much alcohol the government loads on extra slivovice taxes—and uses the money to build soft-drink factories and restaurants. Lemonade is urged upon everyone but slivovice is still poured for even a breakfast meeting.

Yugoslavia wants U. S. tourists and is doing all it can afford to entice them here. Prices are low—a good steak dinner costs $4.30 with wine and all the trimmings included. Tipping is solved by fixing flat rates of 10 to 15 per cent for all services. Yugoslav Airlines boast the cheapest internal fares. Work is pushed at non-stop pace to construct new highways linking the major cities where tourists would concentrate. Hotels are being built in all major centers. But money is short and hotel management still depends on Western advice and training. Belgrade's big new Metropol is air-conditioned throughout, but hotels still refuse to provide soap for guests.

Hard Workers

Yugoslavs work hard — in the cities, in factories and on the farms. Government offices and state-run enterprises work on a six-day, 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. schedule. There is no work break in offices, except those taken to drink syrupthick Turkish coffee served at the desks. Factory workers, however, are guaranteed a more restful "coffee break."

Yugoslavs like Americans. They will studiously ignore foreigners rather than embarrass them with states. Communism doesn't show through. But it is there with firm roots, and government officials are the first to insist that Communism is here to stay.

The Open Meeting Bill

To the Editor:

There was very little truth in the article which appeared in your paper on April 19, 1957, regarding the Open Meeting Bill, as every member of the Municipal Corporations Committee, without exception, was 100 per cent in favor of the basic principles contained in Senate Bill 224.

It (the bill) was very vague on some of the things it hoped to accomplish, overlooking a number of very important details it should have contained. In other words, a complete overhauling was necessary to put it in proper form to (1) make it workable and (2) to receive Justice Department approval as to its constitutionality. However, the bill has been reported out of the Committee in a revised and amended form and will be on the calendar this week for action by the House.

I trust the above will give you a better understanding of the situation.

Stanley L. Blair
Chairman,
Municipal Corporations
Committee
Pennsylvania Assembly

(Editor's Note—It was the general impression among newsmen covering the legislature in Harrisburg that there was opposition inside the Municipal Corporations Committee to the Open Meeting Bill. Because the committe was considering the bill in private, the attitudes of individual members could not be accurately reported. We are glad to have Representative Blair's assurance that all the committee members support the principle that the public's business should be conducted only in public.

Unfortunately, the committee has amended SB224 in such a way as to reduce its effectiveness seriously. Efforts are being made to strengthen it on the floor of the House. Unless these efforts succeed, the effect of the measure will be to leave many loopholes by which public bodies can continue to transact their business in secret.)

Sinchak Explains

To the Editor:

You did not have any reporter at the meeting mentioned in your paper of May 6 where I was supposed to have said, "Everyone in City Hall must go!" Someone from the Parente machine gave your office their version.

The slate must go and certain key figures must go, but you know that I cannot get rid of any employe that belongs to a union or is under civil service.

Therefore, I will not touch anyone in the Street Department, garbage collection department clerks and other employes in minor positions.

Donna Naccarato, Lauri Kiikka Wed

Donna Naccarato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Naccarato, of 727 Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, became the bride of Lauri Kiikka, of Rochester, N. Y., in a candlelight ceremony, Saturday evening, May 4, at 7:30 o'clock in the First Methodist Church of Charleroi. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kiikka, of 1232 Nash Ave., Monessen.

The Rev. Robert Laing, church pastor, officiated. Double ring vows were exchanged before an altar banked with ferns and white gladiolus. The aisle of the church was lined with white crash and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Organ Music

Mrs. Frank Donovan played a prelude of organ music and soloist was Muriel Rauscher, who sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a summer gown fashioned of embroidered organdy. The style was simple and accented with a scoop neckline and short sleeves both edged with a row of flower embroidery. The bodice was fitted with a tucked waistline that topped a bouffant skirt with a chapel-length train. Embroidery also detailed the skirt from the waistline to the wide band that encircled the skirt just above the hemline. The bridal veil was in a matching fabric with seed pearls trimming the scalloped front. It was fingertip length. She carried a cascade of white mums and red roses with lily of the valley intertwining.

Norma Naccarato, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Shirley Naccarato, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore matching ballerina length gowns of lilac chiffon over taffeta and net with a deep purple cummerbund ending in a bustle effect. Lilac headbands and matching mitts were worn and both carried cascades of lilac mums.

Oliver Kiikka, of Cleveland, O., brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were James Naccarato, brother of the bride and Raymond Larmi, uncle of the bridegroom.

Mothers Attend

Mrs. Naccarato wore a beige lace dress over taffeta for her daughter's wedding with an orange peel hat and her corsage was of orange roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore a pink dress with a lilac hat and her corsage was of pink roses.

Wants to Forget Jacket Incident

That jacket incident at Rostraver High School evoked this comment from superintendent E. F. Carter: "I'd just as soon not hear the word jacket anymore. From now on I'm going to refer to them as coats." . . . Incidentally it was Carter who asked the Junior WPIAL for a ruling on the awards. He had no choice after the matter was brought to his attention. "I couldn't run the risk of having a protest at some future time," explained Carter. "We had to protect our students." . . . Although he didn't say so, it was apparent Carter was a little peeved over the entire incident.

Donora High's fine footballer, Angelo Dabiero, set a new Big Six meet record at Brownsville the other day when he covered the 100 yard dash in 10.4. However a mistake prevented a much faster record from being established last year by Monessen's Felton Brown. Felton, who is now a standout member of the Westminster College track team, was clocked in 11 seconds flat during the 1956 meet at Charleroi . . . That time was obviously slow. So meet officials checked the distance and found that Brown had actually run 110 yards! . . . Gibson Homered Here in 1938

When did Josh Gibson, the famed catcher for the old Homestead Grays, hit his tape-measure home run in Monessen? According to the current issue of the Pittsburgh Courier, the classic drive was stroked back in 1938. Mayor Jimmy Gold measured the effort himself and found the distance to be no less than 513 feet. Later that season Gibson slammed a drive 514 feet in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Hereabouts Gibson is a legend. And his feats have grown even bigger since his untimely death back in 1946. Because of his color, Josh never made the majors. But those who saw him play claim he was the greatest catcher who ever lived. During his life-time he made many appearances in Monessen with the Grays.

Rostraver Athletes 'Eligible'

Parents Protest Incident

Rostraver's School Board last night opened its meeting to a committee of parents who wanted to know why 32 Junior High athletes had to return jackets they had earned through fund-raising activities.

David Weiss, Rostraver solicitor, served as moderator for the novel meeting, during which taxpayers were permitted to question school officials about the matter.

Mrs. Thomas Patterson, wife of a veteran member of the Rostraver board, started firing the questions in a hurry. She described the incident as a "black mark" against the school district and wanted to know who was responsible for it.

E. F. Carter, superintendent of schools, said the matter was first brought to his attention by three members of the senior high school staff. He later identified them as principal Clifford Naylor, football coach Wade Bender and basketball coach George Everett.

Not Handled Right

Carter said he had no knowledge of the jackets until after their purchase He said such awards should be handled through the athletic council to provide time to clear eligibility problems.

When informed by Naylor, Bender and Everett that a rule had apparently been violated, Carter pointed out that he had no alternative but to seek a ruling from the Junior WPIAL.

Naylor defended his position by stating:

"We were concerned about the eligibility of players coming in to the senior high school. The rule appeared plain. It was our duty to determine if the boys were still eligible. We did not ask Mr. Carter to take any action. But we did bring it to his attention to protect the students coming in to our school."

Everett claimed that the senior high coaches were not to blame for seeking to protect the eligibility of the athletes

Not Consulted

Mrs Virginia Woods, a member of the Junior High faculty who handled the money for the boys in their fund-raising promotions, wanted to know why Junior High coaches and administrators were not contacted before the Junior WPIAL was asked to rule

"I was not consulted before the purchase," said Carter. "I acted within my scope as superintendent to protect the boys."

James O. Leeper, principal at the Junior High, readily accepted blame for the "mistake"

"I did not consider these jackets as awards in the strict sense," he said. "It seems to me there is a certain ritual connected with the presentation of awards In this instance, the boys themselves earned the money to cover the cost with the exception of $150 donated voluntarily by the Rostraver Lions Club. Mrs Woods handled the money and a cash purchase was made No school groups were involved.

"However that does not excuse me from responsibility and I am willing to accept it."

When questioned by School Director Rudolph Godzak, Leeper conceded that he felt the administration may have acted "hastily" in requesting a decision.

Less Publicity

"This matter might have been resolved with less favorable publicity to the school district," he said.

Leeper also disclosed that he was given less than two hours by the Junior WPIAL to reclaim the jackets last Friday.

School Director John Deter observed that "many are to blame" for this thing.

James Weir, athletic director, suggested that the School Board clearly define his duties so that he might serve as a watchdog in such matters

Both Leeper and Naylor denied that there was any friction between the Junior and Senior high schools although several of the parents implied as much

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Patterson observed

"We are still unconvinced. Nobody has explained why this had to be handled in such a manner as to destroy the morale in our Junior High."

Girls Will Crash MHS Sports Banquet

There will be a feminine touch to the annual Monessen High sports banquet for the first time in history when the 1957 affair is staged tomorrow at the school cafeteria.

In the past, the event has been for men only. But four members of the fairer sex will crash the party this time.

One of the ladies will be Antoinette Valentine, coach of the undefeated Monessen High tennis team She will be accompanied by two feminine members of the tennis squad as well as the head drum major, who this season for the first time happens to be a girl

Tomorrow's banquet promises to be an interesting one. Following tradition, a former Weiss Award winner will be on hand to speak This year it will be Gene Danser, currently football coach at Mars High School.

Townsend to Speak

Sharing the speaking platform will be S. S. Townsend, retiring principal and basketball coach at West Newton. Townsend organized the first basketball team at Monessen High.

The toastmaster will be Dr Joseph Dudas, a School Board member who played under Townsend.

Alfred Hazelbaker, Junior High principal, will deliver the invocation while Henry Furio, Senior High principal, will offer the benediction.

Brief remarks will be made by John Lancas, president of the School Board, Nick Cullen, chairman of the athletic committee, and Dr. Joseph Pallone, Superintendent.

Mayor Hugo Parente will extend the greetings.

Award Jackets

Jackets will once again be awarded by the Monessen Movie Club. Bob Mandarino will be in charge

Two special awards will be made One of them is the Weiss award which goes annually to the senior boy who has demonstrated scholarship, athletic ability, good character etc

A new trophy will be started in memory of the late Frank McKosky, former coach and athletic director. It will go to the senior athlete who is the "best all around school citizen"

As usual, the banquet preparations are being made by Thomas Preston, secretary of the athletic council and former vocational school director.

Softball Umpires To Meet Tonight

The Monessen Softball Umpires Association will meet tonight in the New Italian Hall at 8 p. m. instead of tomorrow as orginally scheduled.

All members are urged to attend since important business is on the agenda, according to league officials.

Jr. WPIAL Says No Jackets

Junior WPIAL officials yesterday notified Rostraver that 32 Junior High athletes who purchased jackets from money they raised themselves will be eligible for future interscholastic competition now that the jackets have been returned.

At the same time, the Junior WPIAL scolded school officials for not being aware of a PIAA rule which forbids a Junior High athlete from accepting an award in excess of $2 from any source.

The decision of the Junior WPIAL was mailed to E F Carter, superintendent of Rostraver schools.

"Considering the circumstances and realizing the fact that athletes and townspeople are genrally not cognizant of these rules, the committee finds no other alternative than to place onus of this violation upon the administration which has the responsibility for abiding by the rules of the league," stated the report

Continued the letter:

Principal Should Know

"It is mandatory that the principal thoroughly familiar with rules and regulations in order that athletes at the Junior High level be conducted in a manner that will promote the health and welfare of the athletes physically and mentally."

After that reprimand, the Junior WPIAL decided.

"However since the jackets have been returned and the letter stating that fact has been present to a member of the decisions committee, rendering the athletes ineligible is not deemed adviseable. Suspension of Rostraver is also found not necessary."

The decision was signed by Leo Sems, secretary of the Junior WPIAL.

Ironically two of the members of the decisions committee are principals at schools where junior high athletes are often awarded jackets. At one of the schools, awards were made as late as last February

Was Embarrassing

Off the record, one of the principals admitted that it was an embarrassing decision to make. However in view of the clear rule governing the matter, he had no choice.

Junior WPIAL officials have also conceded that probably many more schools have violated the rule

However we are not policemen," said Sems. "Unless the violations are brought to our attention, we will not act."

Both Carter and James O Leeper, principal at Rostraver Junior High have made it clear that they will let the matter drop without implicating other schools.

"We are interested only in clearing our own house," said Leeper "I regret this incident and must accept responsibility for not being familiar with the rule."

New Car Race Set for Heidelberg This Sunday

The aristocrats of stock car racing — the new car drivers — will invade the district for the first time this season at Heidelberg Raceway this Sunday afternoon

At least 30 cars of the Midwest Assn. of Race Cars (MARC) have been lined up for the five-race program on the Heidelberg half-mile oval highlighted by a 100-lap race.

Time trials get underway at 1 p. m and the first race is set for 2:30 p. m.

The MARC New car division made up of 1956 and '57 models includes both hardtops and convertibles. With fuel-injection motors setting the pace the MARC drivers are certain to smash all speed records on the fast Heidelberg half-mile.

Well-Known Drivers

All of MARC s top drivers, many well-known to fans because of previous visits, are expected to be in the running at Heidelberg Sunday. The entry list is headed by Iggy Katona, who won the MARC new car title the last two seasons, and includes other standouts such as Jack Farris, New Paris, O Bob James, Akron, O; Nelson Stacy, Cincinnati, Wimpy May, Auburn Corners, O, Billy Erhardt, Youngstown, O; Bob Coutcher, Monroe, Mich, Herschel White, Indianapolis Bobby Hunter, Indianapolis and Ray Crowley, Detroit.

Will Open Home Season Tonight At Ninth Street Park

Manager Pappy Johnson's Monessen Ozarks will open their home season today at Ninth Street Park when they play host to Van Voorhis.

Both teams looked good in their Mon Valley League debuts earlier in the week, so this evening's collission figures to be worthwhile

The Ozarks opened on Monday with a 5-1 win at Donora behind brilliant three-hit pitching by Bill Mitnick. Van Voorhis was also successful in its inaugural, slamming Fayette City.

The visitors have assembled some of the valley's finest sandlot stars, including Ron Neccial, the former Pirate fastballer.

Another member of the Van Voorhis cast is Mike Young, the Monessen product.

Anderson to Pitch

Johnson will probably call on Fuzzy Anderson to handle mound chores this evening. When Anderson has his control, he's tough to handle.

Three other Valley League games are scheduled for today. Donora will go to Fayette City, New Eagle to Perryopolis and Charleroi to West Newton.

Perryopolis and Charleroi already have wins to their credit

Four contests are also slated for Friday. Monessen will go to West Newton. Fayette City to New Eagle. Van Voorhis to Donora and Perryopolis to Charleroi.

Charleroi Tops New Eagle, 4-1

Charleroi opened its Mon Valley League season yesterday by turning back New Eagle, 4-1, behind brilliant pitching by Fred Uhlman.

Uhlman had a no-hitter going with one out in the seventh Lou Sepe singled at that point and scored a little later on Serge Anselmino's safety. Those were the only safe raps collected off the southpaw ace.

Vic Furiga pitched good ball for the losers, too, holding the power-laden Charleroians to six safeties.

Uhlman helped his own cause with a tremendous two-run homer in the second inning.

The Greyhounds placed in only three events. Al Lisk was fourth in the 100 yard dash George Selcho was fourth in the high hurdles and Carl Crawley was fourth in the javelin.

Cookie Lavagetto Is A Nice Guy, But . . .

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Harry Arthur (Cookie) Lavagetto, taking over as manager of the Washington Senators, is a cinch to prove once again the old Durocherism that "nice guys finish last"

Cookie is a nice guy and a good baseball man But the Senators are the punching bag of the American League and this has to be the most hopeless job in baseball.

Washington collapsed years ago and there's no succor in sight. It took its last flag in 1933 and in the intervening 23 years has been out of the second division only four times, the last of those rarities coming a long 12 years ago. The farm system is a mockery and the accent is on Latin-American players because they come cheaper.

Rowboat Without Oars

So Chuck Dressen was booted off the bench to change the window dressing and Cookie, his coach, was named captain of the rowboat without oars

Cookie is a swarthy, black-haired man of 42 who is on the silent side. He picked up his nickname in 19 when he joined his home town Oakland team. The boss was manager's nickname was Cookie and, when he adopted the youngster, Lavagetto became known as "Little Cookie." Eventually he became the big "Cookie."

The following season, 1934, he was up with Pittsburgh and in 1937 was traded to Brooklyn. Cookie was a Dodger standby for seven years with four years out in the service for military service and Cal... can't be recalled as the ... third baseman in history

Twice he led the league in errors Nor was he a great hitter, with a lifetime mark of 269.

The Big Moment

But one hit at the tail end of his career earned him more acclaim than all the others put together. That was the one in the 1947 World Series which broke up Yankee Bill Bevens' no-hitter with two out in the ninth inning.

"One hit doesn't make a great player," he recalls modestly "They don't remember that the next day I fanned in the ninth with the tying run on second base."

The next year Cookie was back in the minors where he wound up his playing career in 1950. Since then he has stood in the shadow of Dressen, coaching for "Whistling Charlie" at Brooklyn, Oakland and Washington.

Cookie had some other good days, like hitting a home run off Burleigh Grimes his first time at bat in the majors and the game in 1939 when he got six hits in six times at bat. But the good days are over for a while now. You can't see the sunshine from a coal mine

Lavagetto Takes Dressen's Place As Nat Manager

DETROIT (UP) —Charley Dressen showed no bitterness as he watched his former lieutenant Cookie Lavagetto, run his ball club — the Washington Senators Cookie didn't have any better luck than Dressen and the Nats lost, 5-3, to the Detroit Tigers Tuesday.

"It sure looks different from up here." Dressen said as he viewed Briggs Stadium from the third deck press box.

Dressen talked quietly but showed a trace of mist in his eyes. His face is ruddy from years of standing on dugout steps — usually watching a more potent ball club than the punchless Senators.

"I still don't know whether I'll take the front office job," Dressen said only a few hours after President Calvin Griffith had fired him as manager in an attempt to shake the club out of its eight-game losing streak.

"I thought we'd win more ball games this year," Charley said. But it wasn't the chipper Charley who watched his Brooklyn Dodgers tie for the National League pennant in 1952, and win it outright in 1953 and 1954.

Dressen went to the Yankees as a coach for Bucky Harris in 1947 and 1948. Then he went to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League and won a pennant with the Oaks in 1950 before returning as Dodger manager.

Belle Vernon Preppers Practice

The Belle Vernon Prep Baseball team will practice again Saturday beginning at 9 a. m., according to manager Harold Ringstad.

No less than 30 boys turned out for opening drills last Saturday.

"Although this year's team lacks the experience of last year's, the outlook is still not dark," said Ringstad.

McVickers Win Second Place

In a special rolloff last night, McVickers defeated the Geiselharts to take runner-up honors in the Blooming Mill Millwrights League

Earlier the Geiselharts had eliminated the Furios, with both matches ending in a 2-0 decision.

The Brenimans won both the first and second half titles to emerge as season champions.

Leading scorers were Pete Urick, 21-369; Stan Zyski, 203-363, Tom Horan, 207-345; and Chuck Miller, 196-324.

The annual league banquet will be held June 6 at the Charleroi Elks Club.

Officers next season will be Thomas Horan, president; Clarence Brown, secretary, and Bill Mullen, treasurer.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Grip, Not Squeeze

Professional golfers are not much given to sitting around discussing the various shadings of word meanings. But I did hear one of them say the other day that the word 'grip" was probably the wrong term to apply to the method of holding a putter.

"You talk to people about 'grip' and they get the idea of squeezing down on the club like somebody was trying to yank it away from them," he said. I hadn't thought much about it, but the man was probably right. A lot of golfers do hold the putter too tight.

My thought is that the putter should be held as firmly as may be without setting up any undue tension in the muscles of the forearms The idea of "firmness" should be there, but so should the idea of "touch"

Just grip the club firmly but pressure throughout the putting gently. Maintain this steady, even stroke.

Midget Loop Drive Right on Schedule

Monessen's Midget Football League drive for funds is progressing on schedule, according to project chairman Alex Kachmarik.

A progress meeting will be held Sunday at 7.30 p m., in the Ravens Club.

"We ask all our workers to report at that time and turn in as much money as they've collected," said Kachmarik.

The public solicitation will end next week.

The MFL hopes to raise about $2,000 to finance construction of a concession stand at Memorial Stadium. Receipts from the stand are expected to be enough to keep the program going in the future without need for further solicitation.

"In effect we're asking Monessen sports fans to put us in business so that we won't have to ever bother them again for funds," pointed out Kachmarik

All persons associated with the Midget League work without pay

Volunteer Labor

It is hoped that the concession stand can be built entirely from volunteer labor

The concrete base of the stand has already been laid Three men — Frank Talerico, Earl Cruzan and Bud Beeler — handled the entire job

"We hope to start laying block in a few days," said Kachmarik "Anyone who wants to help out is certainly invited to do so"

Talerico, a city contractor has volunteered to take charge of the building project

A draft board spokesman said Hundley's classification reverted to 1A when he withdrew from the university about six weeks ago to join a basketball barnstorming tour

Hundley, acquired by the Minneapolis Lakers as No 1 choice in the recent professional National Basketball Association draft, received a United Press All-America certificate from U P. President Frank H Bartholomew at Parkersburg Sunday

Chicago Trips Pirates, 10 to 8, In 14 Innings

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pirates' overtime jinx held, Dale Long and Lee Walls came back to haunt their former mates, and that was the story Tuesday night as Pittsburgh dropped another drawn-out game

The 14-inning, 10-8 loss to the Chicago Cubs was the fourth straight overtime night game at Forbes Field And the Pirates lost all four and are now in the National League cellar.

Walls got the Cubs off to a flying start when he tripled home Ernie Banks with their first run in the fourth inning. Four more runs crossed before the rally was over. Walls and Long were traded to the Cubs last week.

Long climaxed the game with a two-run single in the 14th. It followed a two-run single by pinch-hitter Bob Speake and it was the one that counted because in their half of the inning the Pirates loaded the bases and pushed across two runs.

Outhit Cubs

The Pirates outhit the Cubs, 17-15, but were never ahead in the game, which went 4 hours and 17 minutes.

If they're doing anything, the Pirates are winning a regard as a team to be wary of when it's the ninth inning and the score is against them

Frank Thomas sent Tuesday night's game into overtime with a two-run double that tied the score at 6-6

The teams play under the lights again tonight with Dick Drott (1-3) opposing Vernon Law (1-0)

Score Suffers Serious Injury When Hit in Eye

CLEVELAND (UP) — Herb Score, the Cleveland Indians' "million dollar" pitcher, was "resting comfortably" in Lakeside Hospital today with a severe eye injury that doctors fear may have damaged his sight.

The brilliant, 23-year-old southpaw was struck in the right eye by a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees in the first inning of a game Tuesday night at Municipal Stadium. The blow also fractured Score's nose.

A 20-game winner with the Indians last season and the leading strikeout artist in the major leagues for the past two years, Score was reported in "satisfactory" condition early this morning.

Severe Bleeding

"There has been severe hemorrhaging of the eye, but the exact nature of the injury will not be determined for a few days," said Dr. C W Thomas, a Cleveland eye specialist, who was called in to examine Score by Dr Don Kelly, the Indians' team physician.

Kelly said Score "had some light perception" when he examined the tall left-hander and admitted, "that's encouraging"

After being struck, Score fell heavily to the ground with his hands clasped over his face Blood streamed from his nose and mouth, but he did not lose consciousness. He was removed from the field on a stretcher and later was taken to the hospital.

Cincy Wins Eighth Tilt in Row; Williams Hikes Batting Average

By EARL WRIGHT

That familiar fire engine color marked the "hottest" players in the majors today as the Cincinnati Redlegs ran their victory streak to eight games and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox sent his batting average soaring to 453.

The Redlegs looked like the bust of the season when they lost six straight games to the Milwaukee Braves But now they're traveling like an Ohio River boat passing Cincinnati at floodtide and whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday night, 9-2 The victory gave Hal Jeffcoat, a converted outfielder, his first pitching triumph

Williams drove in three runs with a single and homer to give the Red Sox a 4-3 triumph over the White Sox. Ted, returning to action after being hit on the right arm Sunday at Cleveland, also drew three walks for a perfect night as he backed Tom Brewer's three-hit pitching

Herb Score, who led the majors in strikeouts the last two seasons, suffered what may prove a serious injury when he was struck on the right eye by a line drive in the first inning at Cleveland But the Indians, with Bob Lemon replacing Score, battled back to edge the New York Yankees on two unearned runs, 2-1.

Power's Homer Beats Orioles

Vic Power hit his second homer of the night in the 10th inning to give the Kansas City Athletics their fourth straight victory, 3-2, over the Baltimore Orioles. In Tuesday's only day game, two-run homers by Frank House and Frank Bolling gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-3 victory and ruined Cookie Lavagetto's debut as manager of the Washington Senators.

In the other National League action, the Philadelphia Phillies routed Warren Spahn while giving Robin Roberts an 8-4 victory over the Braves, two-run singles by pinch-hitter Bob Speake and Dale Long in the 14th gave the Chicago Cubs a 10-8 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Al Worthington's five scoreless relief innings helped the New York Giants down the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-5

Art Schult collected three hits as the Redlegs battered Johnny Podres, Ed Roebuck and Ken Lehman to keep the major league season's longest winning streak alive.

Billy Klaus walked with two out in the ninth and Williams followed with his sixth 1957 homer to give Boston a 4-1 margin. It was the decisive blow as in the bottom of the inning, Larry Doby homered for the White Sox with Minnie Minoso on base.

Bauer Loses Pop Fly

The Indians beat the Yankees in the eighth when right fielder Hank Bauer lost Al Smith's pop fly and then threw wildly to second, permitting Gene Woodling to go to third and Smith to second. Tom Sturdivant walked Vic Wertz to fill the bases and, with two out, walked Rocky Colavito to force in Woodling with the winning run

The Phillies chased Spahn after four innings by hammering him for seven hits and five runs Roberts won his second after losing three.

The Cub-Pirate game lasted 4 hours and 17 minutes. It was the fourth consecutive time a night game went into extra innings at Forbes Field and Pittsburgh lost all of them. Long and Lee Walls, who were traded to the Cubs last week by the Pirates, were key figures in the Chicago triumph.

Kluszewski Has Nothing to Say

CINCINNATI (UP) — Big Ted Kluszewski had no comment today about when doctors would operate to correct a crippling back ailment that may keep him out of the Cincinnati lineup for the rest of the season.

The 237-pound slugger checked out of the hospital Tuesday, where he underwent a final series of tests to determine the cause and extent of his ailment.

The big first baseman has been in the hospital for a week after tentatively agreeing to an operation, on condition the medical team diagnosing his ailment take another look.

Trading Stamp Investigation in State Urged

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Sen. Benjamin R. Donolow (D-Philadelphia) has asked the General Assembly to investigate the practices of trading stamps in Pennsylvania which he termed "unfair competition in small business"

Asking the appointment of a six-man joint investigating team, Donolow charged that abuses by trading stamp companies have resulted in their "earning unearned profits."

He said housewives, after accumulating thousands of the stamps by trading at certain stores, have found redemption stores ill-stocked, and in some cases, found that the companies have declared bankruptcy and gone out of business.

"In view of the fact that trade stamps are so important in our daily life," he said, "It is important that that we in Pennsylvania undertake a thorough study in order to correct these abuses."

The committee would be directed to report to the Legislature at the next session and to recommend "appropriate legislation."

Costello Is Sent To Jail

NEW YORK (UP) —Gambler Frank Costello was packed off to jail Tuesday night for refusing to tell a grand jury about an attempt on his life and a scrap of paper that may be the clue to a gambling empire.

Costello, who was nicked by a would-be assassin's bullet last night, was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse for refusing to cooperate with a grand jury investigating the shooting. At least part of the reason for his refusal, he indicated, was the Bureau of Internal Revenue, a number one bugaboo for gamblers.

Police, meanwhile, spread a 14-state alarm for Costello's would-be killer, described by witnesses to the attempt as a hefty six-footer with slicked-down hair who waddles when he walks.

The scrap of paper that prompted a barrage of police and grand jury questions required little guesswork as to its nature. It was found in Costello's pocket as he was being treated for a scalp wound made by the gunman's .38 caliber bullet and read:

"Gross Casino wins as of 4-26-57 $651,284.Casino wins less markers $435.695. Slot wins $62,844. Markers, $153,745. Mike $150 per week. Jake $100 per wetk. L. $30,000. H 9,000."

Police said the note apparently alluded to gambling profits, possibly from a Las Vegas casino in which Costello is rumored to have an interest. The term "marker" is ambling slang for an I.O.U. The possibility was raised that the attempted killer might be someone who owes Costello a large sum of money, or a gunman hired by such a person.

Police put little stock in Costello's claim that the gunman was "a punk trying to get a reputation" in the underworld.

Young Germans Leaving Homes

BREMEN, Germany (UP) — Many young Germans are leaving for foreign countries to escape military service and the threat of war, a survey showed today.

The survey by the Emigration Counselling Service here said these reasons were given by an increasing number of men in the 20-to-30-year age groups. High taxes and the difficulty of saving money was another frequent reason given.

Having Trouble with Jurors

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (UP)—The process of selecting a jury to hear the "mercy killing" trial of Dr. Samuel L. Woodhouse Jr., 52, Milroy physician, went into its third day here today with four jurors still to be chosen.

Judge Paul S. Lehman recessed proceedings late Tuesday when three additional jurors were sworn in and the remaining 14 veniremen on hand were dismissed by defense and prosecution challenges. The judge directed Mifflin County Sheriff Fred Foster to order additional prospects into the courtroom from the streets.

Dr. Woodhouse was charged with the slaying of his foster daughter, Elizabeth L. Woodhouse, 16, Aug. 6, 1953. Police said the physician showed no remorse for the crime and worked in his garden and treated two patients while the girl lay dead in the house.

Investigators said Woodhouse told them he killed the girl because she was ill and unhappy and because he was worried about financial responsibilities. They said he also told them he planned the killing for nearly a year and intended to commit suicide after the slaying.

WHY TEMPORARY STREETS?

PARENTE'S BLACKTOP ROADS HAVE PROVIDED A PERMANENT INCOME FOR HIS FAVORED CONTRACTORS.

The present Mayor boasts of the streets and alleys paved while he has been in office. Before he was Mayor, Monessen built first class streets with solid foundations, curbs and sidewalks, and will again do so after he is no longer Mayor.

The Mayor has laid down temporary roads that are continually crumbling and require constant repairs and maintenance — temporary roads for a permanent town. Another example of the administration's waste of the taxpayer's money.

Pittsburgh Steel Employes Pay Above Average

Pittsburgh Steel Co. employes earn more than the average pay throughout the steel industry.

This is what Keystone, the company publication, states in its recent issue.

The total company payroll has nearly doubled since 1947 and the average hourly wage of Pittsburgh Steel employes has hit a record high of $3 07.

But the steel industry's average hourly wage was only $2 70, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

In addition to this prosperity in the pay check, it costs the company $438 in fringe benefits for each employe, the Keystone states.

The company paid out a record $62,964,261 in 1956 for wages and salaries.

But while the total wages and salaries nearly doubled since 1947, the number of employes has risen only four per cent.

Starting November 1, the pension plans will provide increased minimum pensions, early retirement options, and vested pension rights at age 65 for employes laid off after 15 years service and at least 40 years old.

The 662 former Pittsburgh Steel employes now on pension will also receive an increase next November 1.

PARKING PLAZA BLUNDER

WHY did Parente spend nearly $50,000.00 on "FIVE" different parking surveys?

WHY did it take him nearly EIGHT (8) years to "DECIDE" we needed parking space?

WHY didn't HIS hand-picked authority follow the recommendations of the majority of the surveys and build it between 5th and 6th streets where the shortage of space "REALLY" existed?

WASN'T the location on the south side of Schoonmaker from the K. or P. building to the Sunoco and Sinclair gas stations a better site with a wide ramp coming off Sixth street, and the Freight Station sites better locations?

WHY are the people not using the middle level? The alley is too narrow and risky to travel: on account of children playing in the alley, and the fear of dinging the fenders.

WAS IT placed there to create a shortage of storerooms so that certain individuals could raise rents on unfortunate tenants who do not own them?

ISN'T it true that we today are paying about 4½% interest whereas we could have borrowed money at 1½% IF we would have ACTED when the FIRST survey was made?

ISN'T it a fact that we could have SAVED a good deal of money if a Parking Plaza was built 8 (eight) years ago.

ISN'T it a true fact that we LOST the "BUSY" bus terminal site for City parking which was a bargain at $50,000.00 compared to a "LITTLE" used White Elephant, costing $350,000.00 which YOU taxpayers will pay out of property taxes, not from Plaza revenue? The four other parking surveys cost $30,000.00, so it really is $380,000.00 of frozen assets, which is a HIGH PRICE, for a SELDOM used lot.

WHY did they trade in (recently) our PENNY parking meters for $10.00 each when NEW ONES cost $75.00 each? COULDN'T they have stored them until other parking sites became available?

IS Monessen the City Ahead, when Parente TRIED everything HE COULD to SAVE the bus terminal for his associate, the bus owner? The idea of the City going into the bus business! DO you remember PARENTE endorsing the IDEA to spend $15,000.00 to remodel the old terminal? The City invested $10,000.00 in the bus terminal on the concrete street front, sidewalk, etc., BUT the A & P BEAT them to the "BARGAIN" and tore down Parente's "sacred" bus terminal!

DO "YOU" call this the City Ahead? I call it the CITY BEHIND! BECAUSE, Charleroi and many other cities have NO CITY DEBT and they SOLVED their parking problem, but Monessen did NOT. They caused an extra man to be hired to untie a bottleneck they created and you still find cars on Donner avenue going very SLOWLY bumper to bumper.

ELECT a man who NEEDS only ONE survey and will "NOT" take EIGHT (8) years to "DECIDE"!

Nebraska Woman Named American Mother of 1957

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs Hazel Hempel Abel, of Lincoln, Neb, a former U.S. senator, construction company president and a longtime fighter against juvenile delinquency, today was named American mother of 1957.

Mrs Daniel A Poling, president of the American Mothers Committee, announced the award at the opening of the annual mothers conference here

The American Mothers Committee, in selecting the 68-year-old mother of one son and four daughters, said Mrs Abel fulfills the qualifications for the award as a successful mother, an active member of a religious body, a civic leader and a person qualified to represent the mothers of America

The committee said Mrs. Abel is a woman of courage, patience, affection, kindness, understanding and home-making ability whose life and conduct exemplify the precepts of the golden rule.

For particular note, they singled out her service in the Senate and in Nebraska government.

Mrs. Abel was elected to the Senate to fill out the term of the late Dwight Griswold. She won nomination for the office over 15 men.

Union Officials Deny Endorsing County 'Organization' Candidates

An angry group of New Kensington United Steelworkers officials yesterday hotly denied their locals had endorsed Alex Sculco, Judge Edward Bauer, or New Kensington Mayor Raymond E. Gardlock in the Democratic primary race.

Both John Haser, president of the Allegheny Valley Industrial Union Council, and Robert Sullivan, president of Local 302, New Kensington, punctured the announcement of S. Harold Grossman, District 19 legal counsel, that the USW favored "organization" candidates.

Grossman made the declaration at a dinner-dance meeting of the New Kensington Democratic League of Woman Voters last week. Sculco was toastmaster and major Democratic organization candidates gave addresses

Sullivan rapped Grossman for his remarks that the USW had decided to support specific city and county candidates

"It's a matter of policy that we don't endorse candidates in primaries," Sullivan said

"This is just a way of hoodwinking the public into believing that District 19 is endorsing Gardlock and Sculco," Sullivan said

Haser said his union, which represents 10,000 to 12,000 steelworkers, has not endorsed anyone in the Democratic primary

Haser said, "We have a political action committee, but we haven't had recommendations"

Haser said he personally favors Judge Bauer and Atty. Sculco, both who are candidates for judgeship nominations.

Four years ago the AVIUC endorsed both county and city organization candidates in the primary.

When the council meets Friday night, May 17, just four short days before elections, the question of endorsement may come up, Haser said

Haser refused comment on way Grossman acted as a spokesman for the union. Several union members have wondered why William Hart, District 19 president, did not speak Hart was making another speech elsewhere

The Allegheny Valley Industrial Union Council represents locals at Union Springs, American Window Glass, American Shim Steel, General Electric, and other steel industries in the New Kensington-Arnold district

Reached today by phone, Grossman said he would withhold comment until he had time to draft a statement

William Hart, District 19 president, could not be located in Western Pennsylvania today. Associates — one of them Mike Petrak of the Tarentum USW office — said he had not seen Hart for a week.

Asked to comment on Grossman's statement, Petrak said, "I don't know a thing about it"

$16,000 Invested At Local Plant For Each Worker

There is $16,000 invested at Pittsburgh Steel Co. for each employe

This is money which buys the furnaces, cranes, wire drawing machines, rolling mills, trucks, typewriters — everything necessary to operate a modern steel company.

Ten years ago this investment per job was $8,700 per employe.

This amounts to a two and one-half times increase, and it raises a couple of big questions — Where does this money come from? and Where does Pittsburgh Steel get the additional capital it will need in years ahead?

Both of these answers, The Keystone, company publication, says is one word — stockholders.

They are people who invest their savings and expect dividends — interest — on their investment. Keystone says.

They are not obligated to lend the money. They buy Pittsburgh Steel stocks and the company uses the money to buy steelmaking equipment

In the rugged competition of the steel industry, the company whose employes can produce the most quality steel is the firm that can best guarantee the job security of its employes.

Surplus Food for Foreign Aid Swap Comes to an Abrupt Halt

By BERNARD BRENNER

WASHINGTON (UP) — Efforts to swap part of the government's eight billion dollar pile of surplus farm crops for foreign aid supplies have come to an unpublicized halt.

The program has been handled by the Agriculture Department.

Some department officials blame the breakdown on the buying policies of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) which supervises the whole foreign aid program.

ICA spokesmen admit their policies have squeezed down the barter program. But they insist the policies—allowing foreign governments to handle contracting for most aid supplies—are in line with a congressional order to bolster free enterprise abroad.

ICA officials also maintain that barter deals just are not practical in most foreign aid programs today. Some officials in the Agriculture Department disagree completely.

Whichever group is right, Agriculture Department records show that in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955, the department bartered $22,400,000 worth of surplus crops for materials used in the foreign aid program. In the fiscal year ending last June 30, they dwindled to $8,600,000.

In the current fiscal year the records show no barter deals at all.

High Storage Charges

The government has more than $8,430,000,000 invested in surplus crops piled up under farm price support programs. These commodities cost the taxpayer millions of dollars yearly in storage charges. In a 1954 act, Congress ordered the administration to barter the surpluses for foreign aid supplies wherever possible.

One official, anonymous because he did not want to get into an inter-agency row, put the case for barter this way.

"It costs us $67,200 to store a single ship cargo of wheat for a year. Doesn't it make sense to take it out of storage and swap it for the fertilizer, textiles and machinery we're giving away under the foreign aid program?

"If we don't barter, ICA spends the foreign aid money anyway, and the taxpayer is still paying storage charges on the wheat."

Officials in both ICA and the Agriculture Department agree barter deals were easier several years ago when much foreign aid purchasing was done through a third agency, the General Services Administration.

In those days, an overseas manufacturer of fertilizer, invited to bid on an order for Korea, might offer to exchange the fertilizer for surplus wheat. The fertilizer manufacturer would sell the wheat through an agent.

Purchase Authorization

Today, when ICA approves a grant to buy wire for Bolivia, trucks for Pakistan, or tractors for a Southeast Asia country, the foreign government involved is given a "purchase authorization."

The government receiving aid breaks the authorization down into "sub-authorizations." These are given to individual private importers who go on to buy the products authorized by ICA, which pays the bill.

With the order broken down into many relatively small pieces, ICA officials maintain, barter becomes impractical in most cases. On a relatively few foreign aid supplies, including fertilizer, silk and wool, ICA specifies that if barter and cash bids are equal, the barter bid gets priority. But there have been no takers recently.

Avella Hearing Set for May 28

HARRISBURG (UP)—A public Utility Commission hearing will be held in Washington, Pa. May 28 on the condition of a bridge carrying State Routes 28 and 231 over Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Co. tracks in Avella.

Several Avella residents complained the span is hazardous for school children because of a narrow roadway and lack of a sidewalk. The complaints led to a PUC order for an investigation.

The commission said it was advised the railroad planned repairs to the structure, including a steel

Business Schools Ask Share

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP) — The Pennsylvania Assn. of Private Business Schools asked today to be cut in for a share of any scholarship money advanced to high school graduates by the state.

G. Crawford Lyon, of New Castle, association president, said legislation has been proposed by Gov. George M. Leader to provide scholarships and loan opportunities for "young people wishing to pursue study in liberal arts colleges."

"Ample provision," he said, "must be made for the thousands who desire technical training in the independent schools of the Commonwealth to increase their employment and advancement opportunities."

Lyon said there are now 33,737 students enrolled in the association's 81 member schools. There are 114 private business schools in the state, he said.

Chick Production Less in State

By UNITED PRESS

Total chick production for Pennsylvania during March totaled more than 10 million or 20 per cent less than the same period of 1956, according to the crop reporting service of the state Department of Agriculture.

The March chick hatching total, however, was about 29 per cent above that of February, the reporting service pointed out.

Chick production for the whole nation during the past March was the lowest recorded for the month since 1948. State production from January through March of this year totaled some 24 million or about 18 per cent under last year's output during the corresponding period.

Broiler types were down some 11 per cent and egg-type hatchings dropped about 24 per cent.

Prices

The Pennsylvania farm price index was held steady for April at 237 per cent of the 1910 to 1914 base level, according to the state Department of Agriculture. Higher prices for meat animals and lower prices for wholesale milk and feed grains during the month offset each other.

The meat animal index as of April 15, an increase of ten points over March 15, was partially attributed to the demand for lamb during Lent, the department of agriculture said.

Wholesale milk prices during the same period dropped from $4.95 per hundred pounds to $4.70. Baled hay prices dropped .80 on the ton from March 15 to April 15. The new hay price was $25.10. Other price drops were noted for chickens, corn and wheat.

Pennsylvania farmers received $21 a hundred pounds liveweight for all calves on April 15. Last year's price during the same month was $18.70, or $2.30 less.

Liveweight hog prices, at $17.70 a hundred pounds, were .40 above March and $3 above April a year ago. Other price increases were noticed for eggs, sheep, beef cattle and apples.

Ballet Dancer to Win Friends for the U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—A pretty blonde ballet dancer said today she and a group of young Americans hope to win friends for the United States this summer at the International Youth Festival in Moscow.

The ballet dancer — 23-year-old Barbara Perry of Chicago—said about 500 young Americans already to have written to her organization saying they want to attend the bi-annual Communist program.

Miss Perry announced Tuesday the Russian Embassy has agreed to issue 45-day "special participant cards" instead of visas to Americans planning to attend the festival in Moscow July 28 to Aug. 11.

She announced the agreement after an all-day conference at the embassy. She talked for half an hour with Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin.

Miss Perry, the secretary of the United States Youth Festival Committee, said the Russians promised to supply the cards within a week after she provides the names of the Americans who will attend the festival. She said it usually takes eight to 12 weeks to get a Russian visa.

The hazel-eyed dancer and public relations specialist planned to ask the Polish Embassy today for visas permitting the Americans to pass through Poland.

The State Department is granting passports to Americans who want to attend the festival but has announced it is not "encouraging" attendance because it fears the Russians will use the American contingent for propaganda purposes. More than 35,000 young people from 120 nations are expected to attend.

Teacher's Confession

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The president of the National Education Assn., composed of 700,000 school teachers, admitted Tuesday she was no model student. Martha A. Shull, a Portland, Ore., high school English teacher, said she flunked the first grade but added "it didn't do me any harm."

26 Monessen District Scouts to Take Part In National Jamboree

Twenty six Monessen area Scouts are busy preparing for participation in the National Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge this summer.

More than 150 Scouts of the Westmoreland-Fayette Boy Scout Council will be among the 50,000 Scouts and Leaders at the Jamboree.

Tom Ewing, Scout executive, said today that four more Scouts may be placed to replace boys whose families have moved.

The Jamboree will be a demonstration of camping skills with emphasis placed on fellowship with brother Scouts from every state and many foreign lands.

Some of the highlights planned are simultaneous flag ceremonies on the opening day, mammoth pageants with colorful dramatic displays in the arena to accommodate 100,000 persons, sectional campfire programs, formal religious services for every faith, guided tours of famous landmarks and a closing pageant featuring "Onward for God and My Country" theme.

The Jamboree is one of the top rated activities of Scouting and requires little promoting. In fact, each Council is assigned a quota based on membership.

Scouts from this area who will attend are:

Monessen: William Dawson, Charles Melenyzer IV, David Palmer, David Rhome, Thomas Strauss, Allan Throop and Terry Throop, all of Troop 2; Martin Dudas, Raphael Fedorchak, Carl Jurkiewicz and Eugene Ninchak, Troop 9 and Jerome Dropp, Troop 10.

GUYDAN — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of John Chesmar Guydan. The ministrations of the Very Rev. John Govrusik, masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs George Mikula, who died 11 years ago today, May 8, 1946.
They say time heals all sorrows, and helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved how much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it and courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of my father, Rebe E. Leinbach, who died one year ago today, May 8, 1956.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
Sadly missed by his son, E. A Leinbach

In loving memory of my dear husband, Mike Mazzei, who passed away seven years ago today, May 8, 1950.
My aching heart is calling
To the shadows dark and gray,
For the dear one who left me
Seven years ago today.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hand I cannot touch,
I shall never lose sweet memories,
Of the one I loved so much.
God is good. He gave me strength
To bear my grievous cross,
He is the only one who knows
How bitter is my loss.
Sadly missed by his wife, Lena Mazzei, and the Stringhill Family

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Joseph Fidnarik, who died two years ago today, May 8, 1955.
Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still:
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by wife, Mrs. Josepn Fidnarik and Family

In loving memory of our dear father, Patsy Tucci, who died 24 years ago today, May 8, 1933.
You are not forgotten father,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place
Sadly missed by Daughter and Sons

Lias Appeal to Be Resumed in The Near Future

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP)—Action on an appeal from an Immigration Service order which would deport William G. (Big Bill) Lias from this country will be resumed in the near future, attorney Jack Wasserman said today.

Wasserman also said he felt the chances were "pretty good" that the former bootlegger and gambler would win the fight against deportation to Greece.

The Washington lawyer, handling Lias' case in the deportation battle, said appeal of the order had been held up pending determination of Lias' income tax troubles.

The U. S. Supreme Court three weeks ago refused to review a tax Court judgment that Lias owed nearly two million dollars in back taxes and penalties for 1942-48.

The government has taken first steps toward selling many of his holdings, including Wheeling Downs race track, to meet the bill which with penalties and interest amounts to some $3,250,000.

No date has been set for hearing on Lias' appeal from the deportation order, holding that he is an alien and re-entered this country illegally from Canada in 1948.

Wasserman said Lias is entitled to a "do novo" trial — which means that the case will be tried again from the beginning, in Washington or Pittsburgh, where the question would be whether "we can prove that Mr. Lias is a citizen and not an alien."

To Build Bridge Over Clarion River

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today signed legislation authorizing construction of a three million dollar high level free bridge over the Clarion River near Clarion Borough.

The governor pointed out the provisions of the new law are not mandatory upon the Highways Department, but merely authorize the department to build a span "at such time as traffic counts and other similar data would justify the construction."

The glass blowing industry has been in existence for about 6,000 years.

Federal School Bill Headed for Approval

WASHINGTON (UP) —The compromise federal school construction bill headed toward expected approval today in the House Education and Labor Committee.

Chairman Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W.Va.) of the subcommittee that worked out the compromise bill predicted at least 22 members of the full 30-member committee would vote for it.

But the two billion dollar program still faced a long and uncertain road in the economy-minded House and Senate.

The bill would provide 400 million dollars a year for the next five years to help states build schools.

President Eisenhower asked for a $1,300,000,000 program spread over four years. Democrats generally favored a $2,600,000,000 program spread over six years.

Other congressional news:

Postal — The House Post Office Committee faced a fight over how much to increase postal rates for newspapers, magazines and advertising matter. A vote was sought by tonight. The committee already has approved boosting the rate one penny on first class and air mail letters and post cards.

Natural Gas — Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall of the Federal Power Commission said he favors the new natural gas bill. He told the House Commerce Committee the bill would protect consumers from excessive prices while leaving the natural gas industry free to explore new gas fields.

USIA — Senate critics of the U.S. Information Agency sought a close look at the agency's overseas press service operations. A Senate appropriations subcommittee summoned USIA Director Arthur Larson for intensive questioning.

Flood Insurance — The House turned down the President's request for 14 million dollars to start the new federal flood insurance program approved by Congress last year. The house defeated the flood amendment, which was added to an emergency money bill, 127-97.

This Chimp Has Lots Of 'Bananas' Today

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Kokomo Jr. is a TV performer who writes poetry, paints, has a tuxedo and will travel — preferably, up trees.

Kokomo, a 20-month-old chimpanzee, currently graces the cast of NBC-TV's "Today" show, having replaced J. Fred Muggs, another simian entertainer, on March 4. Born abroad, Kokomo has taken up residence in Manhattan where he shares bachelor diggings with Nick Carrado, a human being.

William Ewald

"What I'm trying to do is raise Kokomo just as I would a child," said Nick as he introduced his roommate. Kokomo shook hands gravely and sucked on a lollipop.

"He has a room of his own in my apartment, his own furniture and he owns 50 suits—that's 48 more than I have," continued Nick.

"He has a tux, sport outfits, a sailor suit, a baseball suit, five pairs of shoes, three pairs of sneakers and all kinds of hats.

"He has his own bed, radio, TV set . . ."

His own TV set"

"Sure," said Carrado "He's crazy about programs with horses and dogs in them. He likes to bark at horses."

Kokomo gazed curiously at Carrado and stood briefly on his head.

"I treat him as I would any child," said Nick. "We eat together and he uses a spoon and fork. I take him to restaurants, drive-in movies. He likes dogs and horse movies. What I'm trying to do now is to get him to obey basic commands—open, close, pick up, and back, smile . . ."

Smile?

"Smile," repeated Carrado. He turned to the chimp and asked him to smile.

Kokomo stood on his head again.

Ghastly.

"You know, there have been reports of chimps talking and eventually, I hope to teach him some simple words," continued Carrado.

Prosperous Painter

"We've had him writing poetry on a typewriter on the 'Today' show and lately, we've had him painting. He works with water colors. We sold one of his paintings to a fellow from Texas for $60 and we've also received an offer for Kokomo to paint a book cover. It's something called 'Guerrilla Warfare.' I think."

Kokomo smiled and stood on his head again.

Kokomo is a little too young for girls yet, but Nick, 26, isn't. Because of Kokomo, Nick has his problems.

"I'd like to get married," said Nick. "But when I find a girl who likes me, she looks at Kokomo and says—you mean I got to take that, too? And when they like Kokomo, they just look at me and say 'Ugh.'"

Komo smiled.

Gruesome.

Bronze Markers Are Stolen from Graves

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—Bronze markers from the graves of Fayette County war veterans have been the target of a gang of thieves, the county Veterans Bureau said today.

Worth Bingham, head of the bureau, said the thieves sell the markers to area junk dealers as scrap metal. He said so far several hundred markers have been stolen from graves in a number of cemeteries around the county.

Your Health—

Protect Your Children From Hazards of Polio

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

The polio season will be upon us before we know it. Let's use every available weapon to fight it. Hundreds of thousands of youngsters throughout the nation have been inoculated with the Salk vaccine. Hundreds of thousands more have not.

While there is a shortage of the vaccine in some areas, there is sufficient surplus in others. Unfortunately, despite this shortage, a good deal of the vaccine will not be used at all — simply because parents fail to take advantage of the new effective ways we have of protecting our youngsters from this dread disease.

If there is not enough vaccine in your particular area to accommodate everyone, there are other steps you can take to provide some degree of protection for your youngster. I'll tell you about them in future columns.

If your community does have adequate supplies, make sure your children begin their inoculations right away. While it may be too late to give them the full protection achieved by the complete series of three shots, you can still see to it that they have two injections.

The first two shots while not as effective, still provide a person with a good deal of protection. In other words, it's not too late to take action to help keep your child from getting polio.

While helping to protect your children, don't overlook yourself. Adults can get polio, too.

If there is enough polio vaccine in your area, and in most places there is, have your entire family inoculated, including your spouse and yourself.

Do not put it off. Do it now. Salk inoculations are preventive medicine. The vaccine works, we know that. So for your own sake take advantage of the protection available to virtually everyone.

Question and Answer

R. S.: I have had chills and sweating most of the winter. What can I do to prevent such an attack next winter?

Answer: Chills and sweating come from a variety of causes. They may be due to a thyroid deficiency or to infections of various types.

Doctor Says Some Obesity Is Not Harmful

By DULOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — From the viewpoint of psychological science, overweight is not always "an abdominal and harmful condition that should be or could be removed by dietary restrictions."

"Whether we like it or not, consider it attractive or ugly we must recognize it as an undeniable fact that for many people weight is an important factor in their adaption—it may serve as a protection against more serious illness," continued Dr. Hilde Bruch.

She is associate clinical professor of psychiatry at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, and was attempting to put a brake on the now general medical precept that all overweight persons, children included, should be reduced by restrictions on eating.

Psychological Injury

Dr. Bruch granted that just being fat exposed children and adolescents to "psychological injury." This injury produces "serious and deep-seated emotional disturbances." But the stresses which lead to the disturbances may have been already present and led to "over-eating and obesity."

To her it was "significant" that over-weight children who "have done best in their total adjustment," have been children who were "accepted the way they were" and "the most serious emotional disturbances, including schizophrenic development, were observed in those in whom there had been the most persistent and hostile preoccupation with their weight."

She referred to fat children who had been treated and under observation through childhood and adolescence into adulthood. Reducing, she said, was "commonly recommended" for solving the psychological problems of fat kinds, but in some "the denial of the desire for food, a desire which is deeply interwoven with unfulfilled needs for affection and security, becomes an additional psychological trauma," she said.

A Dissenting Voice

Hers was a dissenting voice in an all but unanimous medical chorus calling for eating restrictions upon the overweight with cunningly devised diets which, for example, frequently permit oranges or tangerines for fat kids, because they are sweet-tasting without being fattening and yield vitamin C. Dr. Bruchs' contention was that any physician should know and understand the psychological factors before prescribing reducing diets.

Her views were published by the technical journal, "Clinical Nutrition," which also presented those of Dr. Richards Holmes Hoffman of Santa Ana, Calif., who reported a uniform success in reducing 30 boys and 30 girls by scientific food restrictions. "The personality improvement in children and adolescents is at least as striking as the change in anatomic contour," he said, and added:

"While it is quite possible that psychic unrest causes obesity in many adults, one wonders if, in children at least, this theory does not place the cart before the horse. Whatever the cause of obesity, the necessity for its treatment has long been recognized."

A 'Reel' Error

YOKOSUKA, Japan (UP) — Lt. (JG) John S. Darron thinks someone made a mistake with the home movie film he sent to Honolulu to be processed. He sent 50 feet of a quiet domestic scene with mother and baby, the family dog and four puppies. He got back 50 feet showing Japanese practicing karate, a vicious form of self-defense that can kill or maim.

About 20 members and guests attended. Hostesses were Mrs. Hope Baker and Mrs. Chalfant.

Final Plans for Service May 28

Final plans have been made for institutional services by the newly-organized Perryopolis Council, Knights of Columbus, to be held May 28 at the St. John's Social Center.

Approximately 50 members will be invested as first degree knights. Guest speaker will be Michael Williams, of Scottdale and Robert Sheehan, of Pittsburgh.

Lisa Allison, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Allison, of Perryopolis, a student at Star Junction School, is recovering from an emergency appendectomy at Connellsville Hospital.

Too Busy Taking Care of the Others

RACINE, Wis. (UP)—Wallace Reed began giving his time and the use of his truck to the annual polio drive four years ago, after his wife and daughter were stricken with polio.

The action was in appreciation to the Polio Foundation for the aid his family received.

Monday, Reed, 37, was hospitalized—a victim of paralytic polio. Although he fought for others against the disease, he failed to have himself inoculated with Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Polio Epidemic In London Possible

LONDON (UP)—A warning of a possible polio epidemic was issued by the Health Ministry today.

Figures for the first four months of this year were higher than in the epidemic year of 1950 when 7,760 cases were reported. The ministry is distributing a circular to local authorities on how polio outbreaks should be handled.
